

BREAKING DOWN THE BARRIERS

IMPROVING RELATIONSHIPS AND PARTNERSHIPS WITHIN THE OFFENDER PATHWAY

There is no one organisation that can be held responsible for making changes for this population; it is the joint responsibility for all government departments, agencies and organisations to drive through improvements by working closely in partnership with one another.

Lord Bradley (2009)

The aim of this conference is to raise your awareness of individual organisations and service activity along the offender pathway. There will be opportunities to listen to key speakers, discuss the strategy for continued service development for offenders in the West Midlands. You will also learn about service activity and referral pathways. Workshops will range from key learning from serious untoward incidents and continuity of care, to the police / health interface and partnership working.
